

Testimonials for Julie Morse's When Billy Went Bald

“Julie Morse captured the children’s attention with her beautiful story, fun illustrations and her lovely manner. Julie really hit the mark!”

-Carol A. Rogers, Early Childhood Center Director, East Woods School

“When Billy Went Bald” is a children’s book about a boy who has cancer. It is cheerful, upbeat, honest, and factual. The author writes from her experience as a parent of a boy who survived his childhood cancer diagnosis and treatment. “When Billy Went Bald” encourages children to look beyond surface differences and find a compassionate way to reach understanding and acceptance of others who may be suffering. “When Billy Went Bald” is an exceptional contribution to the field of children’s health and education.

-Midwest Book Review

“It was so exciting to have East Woods graduate and author Julie Morse share her incredible journey with our school. She speaks from the heart in a way that touched all of us.”

-Susan Sheeline, Director of Development, East Woods School

“Julie Morse has been the keynote speaker at several important fundraisers for St. Jude Children’s Research Hospital. Together with her son Greg Mikrut, they have brought awareness to the wondrous reach of this charity...Julie spoke eloquently at diverse functions—from the high line St. Jude Four Stars event, to the 1500 attendee St. Jude Fashion Show....When a speaker brings tears to the eyes of every listener—you know you have something special.”

-Robert A. Breit, Chairman of the Board of Directors, St. Jude Children’s Research Hospital
